Pleasant and Delightful

1. Twas pleasant and delightful one midsummer's morn
To view the fine meadows all covered with corn
And the blackbirds and thrushes sang on every green spray
And the larks they sang melodious at the dawning of the day
: And the larks they sang melodious :
: And the larks they sang melodious :
And the larks they sang melodious at the dawning of the day.

2. A soldier and her true love were walking one day
Said the soldier to her true love "I'm bound far away
I'm bound for the Mournwold where the Jotun they roar
I must go and leave you Nancy you're the girl I adore
: I must go and leave you Nancy :
: I must go and leave you Nancy :
I must go and leave you Nancy you're the girl that I adore.

3. The braid from off wrist she instantly drew
Saying "Take this dearest Amy and me heart will go too"
And as she embraced her tears from her eyes fell
Saying, "May I go along with you?" "My love I know you so well"
: Saying, "May I go along with you?" :
: Saying, "May I go along with you?" :
Saying, "May I go along with you?" "My love I know you so well"

4. So went they to the blacksmith and asked for a blade
And from her old plowshare the weapon was made
The weapon she hoisted still beaming with Pride
We will face them together and I will make you my bride
: We will face them together :
: We will face them together :
We will face them together and I will make you my bride!

5. So they strode off to battle all marching in line
a braid upon their wrists of golden straw and twine and flying above them their standard did play
Two larks that sing melodious at the dawning of the day
: Two larks that sing melodious :
: Two larks that sing melodious :
Two larks that sing melodious at the dawning of the day
